

NEW YEAR'S BRUNCH! Truffled Eggs+Caviar+Blinis

WESTERNLIVING.CA DECEMBER 2014

PM 40064924

westernliving

The West Lives Here

MOUNTAIN MODERN

Smart ski chalets designed for easygoing holidays

An Inspired
Whistler Getaway

Luxe Living at Home in the Rockies

Plus Innovative Design in Alberta

Low-Key Living Room

This flexible living space—done up in neutral shades—is the ideal fit for an ever-evolving family.

Switch out the cushions on this Nathan Anthony Folio sofa ($7,970) for a fresh look. nafurniture.com

Decorative objects like this wire sculpture ($70) personalize the space. westelm.ca

Prop framed photos (prices vary) on shelves instead of hanging them. wtdesigns.ca

These Sand Hurricane votives (from $12) look best in pairs or clusters. 18karatstore.com

The adjustable Out-rigger lamp ($459) is ideal for a multi-function space. boconcept.com

» SEE SOURCES

DESIGNER SNAPSHOT

» Life changes when a baby comes along—and that means your space needs to change, too. One Vancouver couple took the challenge of their impending parenthood to designer Jamie Deck, principal of Shift Interiors, who created a living room that will easily modify as the little one grows (or as tastes change). A monochromatic colour palette creates a “soft, spa-like setting,” says Deck (a bonus for new parents who also work busy jobs), but it’s easy to update the look with on-trend hues by switching up artwork or throw pillows. Custom millwork behind the cozy grey Nathan Anthony sofa showcases a rotating roster of personal treasures against a dark grey feature wall, and hidden below the shelving is a built-in buffet with 20-inch-deep cabinets, perfectly suited for storing seasonal items and vases best displayed when baby is a little older.